Conference Theme

» Embracing Our Future - Expanding Our Scope

The theme "Embracing Our Future - Expanding Our Scope" was chosen because we believe 2011 will be a time when the port industry will be embracing new ideas and exploring new possibilities.

The industry is now undergoing a lot of strain and changes which were brought on by the economic crisis. While we experience the transformations that our global economy is undergoing, it is important that we in the port industry adapt to the changes and find new strategies to stay afloat and prosper in this newly developing economic climate.

It is also time to face imperative global issues and concerns, particularly climate change and the role of ports in climate action. As such, it is vital that we explore all of the possibilities and potential the port industry can hold, not limited to advancing our current practices in terms of new technology that will improve our efficiency or lower our environmental footprint, but especially in broadening our scope to utilize our ports in more capacities that will allow us to adapt to the changing market.
